At the time of the Collegiate Clay Target Championships Competition:

- All participants must meet eligibility criteria established by their school.
- All participants are limited to six years of eligibility. Students enrolled at two-year institutions are limited to three years of eligibility; if they transfer to a four-year school, six years total.
- All participants must be between 18 and 25 years old to compete in ACUI or SCTP collegiate clay targets events. If a participant turns 26 during a season, they may finish competing in that season's event. Student veterans between the ages of 26 and 29 years old will be eligible to receive a waiver to participate in ACUI or SCTP collegiate clay targets events. If a student veteran participant turns 30 during a season, they may finish competing in that season's event.
- All participants must be enrolled for the academic term in which they are competing in an event for at least nine credits (six credit hours for graduate students). Seniors who will be graduating at the end of the academic term may be considered eligible if they are taking hours needed to complete their degree. Students who do not meet the enrollment requirements during the semester in which an event takes place will not be eligible to compete in that event.
- Students who begin a season as an eligible student athlete, but graduate prior to the end of the season, will be allowed to maintain their eligibility status through the National Championships of that same season. Following the National Championships event, their eligibility will expire. Early graduates will still be held to all other listed rules, guidelines, and policy listed in the current season's match programs, rulebook, and forms. Students who compete following their graduation date are not eligible to receive monetary scholarship awards.
- All undergraduate and graduate student participants must be enrolled as a student in good conduct standing at the institution they represent, as determined by the institution in which they are currently enrolled.
- For participation in events, certification of eligibility must be made by an advisor or authorized staff member of the school. All participants in the Nationals competitions are required to provide certification of eligibility along with the registrar's seal and signature.
